Code of Student Conduct

The Code of Student Conduct is the University's policy regarding non-academic misconduct and discipline of students. The primary purpose for the imposition of non-academic discipline in the university campus setting is to preserve and protect a quality educational environment.

The Code of Student Conduct is published at Code of Student Conduct (<https://louisville.widen.net/s/mhvg6ssmcm/code-of-student-conduct/>) and through the Dean of Students Office, Student Activities Center, Room W301.

If you have any questions or would like information pertaining to reporting an alleged incident of non-academic misconduct, please contact the Dean of Students Office at (502) 852-5787.

Code of Student Rights Responsibilities

The Student Code of Rights & Responsibilities is a set of guidelines, rules, and policies that outline students' rights, duties, and expectations at the University of Louisville. It helps ensure that the educational environment is fair, respectful, and conducive to learning while also maintaining expectations and promoting a positive community.

Purpose

- Provide for the advancement of knowledge and the development of ethical, sensitive, and responsible persons.
- Promote a campus environment that supports the health and safety of the University of Louisville community.
- Establish standards of personal conduct that facilitate development for all students.
- Provide formal and informal pathways for members of the Cardinal community to hold each other accountable.
- Recognize that students' relationships within the University of Louisville academic community should reflect adult behavior.
- Sustain a culture in which students and student organizations accept their obligations to the community and are expected to act in ways that benefit the common good.
